

CALL FOR PAPERS!

RE/INVENTIONS CONFERENCE English Graduate Student Association

Re/Inventions is the annual conference organized by the English Graduate Student Association (EGSA) of California State University, Long Beach.

Our goal is to provide a forum in which graduate students and advanced undergraduates may present their academic research in a conference setting.

Re/Inventions promotes interdisciplinary collaboration and engagement among students from Southern California and around the globe.

Thursday, November 29, 2018 • Karl Anatol Center
California State University, Long Beach

This year's theme is:

MEMORY

Potential topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Memory loss
- The rhetoric of memory
- Repression and trauma
- Records and documentation
- Digital footprints and records
- Reclaiming memory
- Distortion and madness
- Forgotten narratives
- Forgotten bodies and diaspora
- Nostalgia
- Travel narratives
- Fragmented narratives and unreliable narrators
- (Re) remembering dominant cultural/historical narratives
- Objects and memory
- Remembering the dead
- Digitilization of texts
- Social media and memory
- Memory and power
- Personal and national identity construction through memory

This forum is intended for the presentation of academic papers and/or projects, including multimedia presentations. A limited number of creative submissions will also be considered.

Please submit abstracts of 250-300 words along with a current C.V. to:
egsa.csulb@gmail.com

The deadline to submit is October 26, 2018

Presentations should run approximately 12 to 15 minutes.

Hosted by the English Graduate Student Association and the English Department at CSU Long Beach.

Supported by ASI.